HANOVER REMEMBERED.

SENSATIONAL PRICES FOR HIS YEARLING CROP AT AUCTION. John E. Madden Pays $20,000 for a Colt Out of Correction, and the Seven Choice Ones the Hanover Lot Realize a Total of $71,000-Brisk Bidding at Sheepshead Bay One of the most sensational and profitable sales of thoroughbred yearlings ever held attracted a conglomerate gathering of breeders, owners, trainers and railbirds to the American orse Exchange puddocks at Sheepshead Bay resterday afternoon. The muster of repreentative horsemen indicated that brisk bidding was intended, but unfortunately for the comfort of those directly interested in the proceedings, the "dead head" brigade monopolized a large share of the seats and also the luncheon. Belated visitors found standing room at a remium, and the management would do well to reserve the rather cramped accommodations for patrons who go there on business. Managing Director and Auctioneer F.M. Ware conducted the sale and disposed of lots from representative Kentucky nurseries at prices far above the average. Nothing sensational, however, developed until No. 57 was led in. This was a bay colt by Hanover-Correction, with white marks on the face; near hind leg and near fore coronet. Horsemen regarded him as the gem of the sale, and as there are few chances after this season of securing choice Hanover stock, the bidding quickly assumed a pyrotechnic character. Francis R. Hitchcock tartled the bidders, who had crept up to $2,500, by quietly offering $8,000. Then Julius Bauer ad John E. Madden joined issue, and bids of 1 000 followed each other in rapid succession ntil the colt stood at $15,000. From then on there was a neat bit of finessing at advances of to or $100 until Madden finally said $20,000 and secured the prize. It could not be learned whether the shrewd Kentucky horseman was acting for himself, but even at the price, his vestment was regarded as so good that several porsemen wanted him to accept a fancy advance horsemen wanted him to accept a fancy advance for what all seemed to regard as a bargain.

The incident recalled the sale of King Thomas some years ago at Madison Square Garden. That yearling brought the record price of $10,000 and was resoid for an advance of $5,000. He remained a maiden until, as a five-year-old, he won a race at Brighton Beach. That is not likely to be the fate of the Hanover—Correction colt as Madden Is one of the few horsemen who rarely make a mistake. Bidders who weakened at the enormous figures offered for the ick of the Hanover lot seemed determined to carry off at least one of the breed and the colt by Hanover—Reckon was boosted to $0,000 at which price the hammer fell, with A. H. & D. H. Morris, the buyers. The colt by the same sire out of Vacation cost W. L. Powers $7,000 and then there was a pronounced rise in the market when the chestnut colt by Hanover—Holiday appeared. He is a half-brother to Primrose Pay, Festa and Dr. McBride and Trainer Walden seemed to want him very badly: Frank R. Hitcheock shut off all opposition with a bid of $14,100 and secured the colt. The Hanover colt, out of Ambulance, went to Capt. Brown for $5,600 and then the Morris brothers bought the next two, paying $8,500 for the colt out of prom. Seven of the Hanover yearlings brought $51,000, an average of $10,143 a head. Some youngsters by Hindoo, Sir Dixon, Fonso, Lamplather and Troubadour were also disposed of for substantial prices and taken altogether the sale proves that horsemen have plenty of the best way to invest it from their point of view. COBWEBS BEATEN AGAIN.

McMillan Outfoots and Outlasts the Great Trotter on the Speedway.

The worst beating that Cobwebs, 2:12, ever received on the Speedway was administered to him yesterday afternoon by Dr. J. F. fast young trotter McMillan, 2:171/4. The bay horse has been waiting for an opportunity to measure strides with Mr. Straus's chestnut gelding ever since Cobwebs first met Caryle Carne. 2:11½, and when the two crack trotters turned up at the speeding ground late in the afternoon a brush was in order. E. O. Binzen happened to be on hand with the tall gray mare Elmira, that showed her heels to Little Gem. 2:151/2, a few days ago, and as her owner believes her to be the fastest trotter in town just now she joined in the contest with Cobwebs and McMillan. The gray mare got away half a dozen lengths behind her rivals as wheeled and started from the extreme end of the road at Dyckman street, and so far as she was concerned it was a race to overtake the leaders. McMillan trotted very fast from as she was concerned it was a race to overtake the leaders. McMillan trotted very fast from the first turn of the wheels, putting in his long, sweeping strides with the precision of a machine. His nose was in front nearly all the way to the end of the stone wall, half a mile from the start. Cobwebs seemed to lack his usual speed, but when Mr. Straus shook him up vigorously as they neared the foot of the hill, he rallied and closed on the younger horse. Just as the old fellow's nose showed in front McMillan broke, and Pr. Moore stopped driving. Elmira made a brilliant up-hill fight all the way and really cut-trotted both of her competitors, for she was not more than two lengths behind the leaders when McMillan broke and the brush ended.

All three road riders were ready to renew the contest, and another start was made from near the extreme upper end. Elmira got away well this time and was rushing along on even terms with the bay and chestnut when she suddenly made a standstill break just as the three trotters swung round the bend in a beautiful contest. Cobwebs weakened at the end of half a mile, failing to respond to vigorous driving, and Mr. Straus pulled him up. By a sort of informal application of the old trotting rule which bars the horse that fails to win a heat in two, Elmira was not started in the deciding round. McMillan again outfooted and outlasted the chestnut horse, drawing away from him so impressively at the end of a half mile that Mr. Straus once more took Cobwebs back to a walk, saying as he did so:

"He's had enough. That was a good, square defeat," Mr. Binzen now wanted to take a fall out of the winner, but Dr. Moore thought his horse had done enough fast work for one day. The two road riders agreed, however, to meet on the Speedway next Monday afternoon and settle the ovestion of surremeet.

of the winner, but Dr. Moore thought his horse had done enough fast work for one day. The two road riders agreed, however, to meet on the Speedway next Monday afternoon and settle the question of supremacy as between Elmira and McMillan. Mr. Binzen said he was willing to let Cobwebs, Page, 2:09%. David B., 2:09%, or any other Speedway trotter take a hand in the brush.

Arrangements have been all but completed for a notable wagon race at Empire City Park on the last Saturday afternoon before the Fourth of July. The prize will be a silver trophy, valued at $500, and the probable starters included. J. W. Cornish's David B., 2:09%, B. Gwathmey's Louise Mc., 2:09%, Barney, Goodwin's Page, 2:09%, Dr. J. F. Moore's McMillan, 2:17%, E. O. Binzen's Elmira, Nathan Straus's Cuprum, 2:12%, De Witt C. Flanagan's Ivandorf, 2:16%, John F. Cockerill's Swift, 2:16%, end George Roeckel's King Chimes, 2:10%. The race will be at a mile and repeat and professional drivers will not be barred. On the same day there are to be wagon races for free-for-all trotters, free-for-all pacers, 2:20 pacers, 2:25 trotters, and trotting teams, with plate and other prizes for the winners in all classes. A similar programme, barring the big race, is to be held at the Guttenburg track next Saturday. Both meetings will be under the auspices of the Road Drivers' Association.

PHILADELPHIA. June 15 .- The trotting meeting at Point Breeze Park ended to-day. The postponed 2:21 class was won by Winnifred M., from Windsorwood each having captured two heats yesterday. Santon won the first two heats to-day and finished second in the last heat. The other races were won in straight heats. There was trouble over the purse money in the last two events. Summaries:

NOW FOR THE SUBURBAN.

ETHELBERT A STRONG PAVORITE FOR TO-DAY'S HISTORIC RACE. Jean Beraud and Imp Regarded as His Most

Formidable Bivals-With Good Weather a Sensational Contest Is Assured-Attractive Opening Card at Sheepshead Bay Course. Everything is now in readiness for what promses to be the most interesting and possibly the greatest Suburban Handicap ever run. The historic race, which has held its own as the star feature of the Coney Island Jockey Club's June meeting since 1884, rouses the sporting blood of the toiling citizen more than any other event on the jockey club calendar and the Sheepshead Bay course will, this afternoon, be the Mecca of thousands ranging from office boys with mysterious progenitors who died suddenly to millionaires interested in the sport of kings. Crowds of horsemen visited the picturesqu nclosure yesterday to study the conditions of the track. It was feared that the going might be heavy after the storm of the preceding night and that another cloudburst would play havoe with the field engaged in the big event. Fortunately the weather stood in with Supt. Frank Clarke and between the two the track reached a stage which conservative trainers call "good" and which is likely to be safe and fast this afternoon. The horses had already been tried and the result is an acceptance in which practically all the stars are represented. Perry Be mont's champion, Ethelbert, is fit and ready to shoulder his impost of 130 pounds and meet his greatest rivals, Imp, 128, and Jean Berand, 127. John Bright has arrived in good shape from the West with records accomplished there which entitle him to consideration when it comes to the question of picking the winner. But above him in the opinion of the winner. But above him in the opinion of the handicapper and of those who saw or read of the Brooklyn Handicap, comes Kinley Mack. On a muddy track Kinley Mack would probably be the public choice but it is an expioded fallacy to believe that Kinley Mack cannot hold his own in dry going.

The mystery of the race so far, is Petruchio, James R. and F. P. Keene's noted son of Tournament. In addition to his unexpected victory in the Brooklyn Derby on Thursday, which, by by the way, earned him a penalty of twelve pounds, he has to his credit a second to lidrim in the famous Belmont Stake at Morris Park. Against this the fact is a noted one that no three-year-old ever won the Suburban, but it must be remembered that up to last year there was an established theory that no mare could capture the event until Imp came along and knocked all precedents into a cocked hat. The three-year-old division is also represented by Sarmation, 99 pounds, Gulcen, 100 pounds and Herbert, 96 pounds. These three youngsters are thought to have an unusually good outside chance of mixing it up with their more seasoned rivals.

Prince McClurg, Survivor, Intrusive and Raffaello are comfortably placed in the opinion of those who have watched their work, and the indications are that every horse will be backed more or less. Ethelbert, however, will be a pronounced favorite, and another victory for him would be hailed by both winners and losers. The entries, weights, probable riders and prices are as follows:

Herbert 96 Slack 20 to 1 8 to 1 In addition to the Suburban the features for to-day are the first running of the $10,000 between two pear-olds, at five and a half furlongs straight way, and the Introductory Steepjechase over the short course. McGovern Accepts All Challenges.

As the time grows shorter before boxing in this State in public will be a thing of the past, this State in public will be a thing of the past, Terry McGovern has concluded to make hay while the sun shines and fight every one in his class who challenges him. These lads are Kid Broad, Endie Gardner, Jack Hamilton, Marty McCue and Joe Handler. The featherwight said yesterday that he is ready to meet any of the above, one week after the other, all battles to be decided at the Broadway A. C. Sam Harris, McGovern's manager, had a talk with Matchmaker Mike Padden, and the latter said he would clinch the battles as soon as the boys came to time. McGovern's also prepared to fight Joe Bernstein of Oscar Gardner again. He does not say anything about Wright, but, of course, will not go above 128 pounds.

Cornell's New Shell a Success.

ITHACA, June 15 .- To-night for the first time Cornell tried their new shell, which has been under construction by Boutbuilder Hoyle for the last three months. It was not until after 6 the last three months. It was not until after a o'clock that the crews went on the water, but when they returned the coach was more than satisfied with the work of the 'Varsity eight, and particularly with the new shell. Without doubt Cornell will use this shell in the coming regatta. It is fifty pounds lighter than any shell Cornell has ever had, and Courtney believes it to be as fast as any that ever held a Cornell crew.

BARRETT DISQUALIFIED.

fifteenth round of a glove contest with Oscar Gardner, the "Omaha Kid," at the Broadway A. last night. Barrett was repeatedly warned for dropping to the floor without being hit and was finally ruled out for a continuance of the offence. Gardner was in poor physical shape. His right hand was almost useless, and he looked as if he had gotten out of a sick bed. He took the place of his brother, Eddie Gardner, who did not arrive until the sixth round was over because of a belated train. The Lew Myers of this city knocked down Jim Hayward of Chicaço eight times ins de of five rounds of a twelve-round preliminary at 126 ounds and won, the referee stopping the contest in the fifth round after 2 minutes and 38 seconds had elapsed. Another prelimsoon cut a right loose for the jaw which made Duan a fight in earnest. In the fifth round Lester was cut to pieces and virtually knocked out.

Gardner was, of course, a prohibitive favorite over Barrett in the betting. Gardner's seconds were Andy Walsh, Frank Collyer and Louis Green. Barrett's handlers were Al McMurray, Eddle Hudson, Jack berry rules. Gardner, with guard down, received half a dozen facers with the left without paying any attention to them. Then he began to mix it and Barrett was floored with a stomach punch, lie jumped up and Gardner drew the blood from his mouth with a couple of swings. A moment before the bell Barrett was sent down again, and while on one knee he hit Gardner in the jaw with a wild swing that ma is the crowd laugh.

Barrett was allowed to lead continually for the first minute of the second round. Then Gardner sailed in with a volley of punchess that made Barrett drop to his knees. When they got at it again there was a warm up in which he had been as a warm up in which he had been as a warm up in which he had been as a warm up in which he had been as a warm up in which he had been as a warm up in which he had been as a warm to be a second found the second found Leddy and Mike Dovie. Walter Smith of the Kings County Wheelmen, the sixteen-year-old who made a new record for the mile last year, spent yesterday afternoon at Berkley Oval riding to lower the record for the mile and intervening distances. He was paced by Miller and Judge on a motor tandem. He rode the inde in 1 minute 28 seconds, the quarter in 22 3-5 seconds, the half in 45 seconds and the three-quarters in 1 minute 6 1-5 seconds. The best previous amateur record was that of Arthur Ross, 1 minute 32 2-5 seconds, and it was contended by the Kings County members with Ross that each of the quarters were new records. Last September, though, C. C. Holzelrode a quarter in 20 1-5 seconds at Spokane. Otherwise the times might stand for amateur records if the fact of his having been panced by professionals does not militate against Smith. There is nothing in the N. C. A. rules professional pace, but if the Board of Control should decide thelerecords to be professional ones they will all be slower than the best.

PHILADELPHIA June 15—Outside of the closeness of the score there was nothing about to-day's game between the Philadelphias and the New Yorkers to commend it. It was a picher's contest, made painfully long drawn out by the dilatory tactics of Mercer. The fleiding of both teams was respectable, with the odds slightly in favor of the Philadelphias at the gloss. There was little to choose between the teams in a bitting way, but here again the Philadelphias were lucky, making three of their hits in the second inning in conjunction with a wild throw by Hickman.
